

'I think that one of the most interesting human activities is conversation. But the best conversation that you ever have is disposable in the sense that you don't record it, you don't summarise it, you don't over-analyse it ... The Panel is disposable. We don't watch it back, we don't archive it.'