Map of New South Wales showing community access points.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Access for All

Community Access to the State archives is an important initiative to provide people in regional and rural New South Wales with better access to the State's archives.

The first stage of this initiative is the distribution of the Archives Resources Kit to 40 community access points throughout New South Wales.

The Archives Resources Kit builds on the Genealogical Research Kit, and the Colonial Secretary's Papers, 1788-1825 issued in the 1980s and already held by some of the community access points. It includes explanatory material and links to information available on State Records' World Wide Website <www.records.nsw.gov.au>

In the second stage of the initiative State Records will make preservation microfilm copies of more of our most important 19th century records. At the same time, it will progressively digitise the most heavily used records to make them available on the Internet.

1.2 Community Access Points

State Records has established community access points at the following places:

Albury, Armidale, Bathurst, Bega, Bourke, Broken Hill, Canberra, Casino, Cobar, Coffs Harbour, Cooma, Deniliquin, Dubbo, Forster, Gosford, Goulburn, Grafton, Griffith, Inverell, Kempsey, Lake Macquarie, Lismore, Lithgow, Maitland, Moree, Mudgee, Muswellbrook, Newcastle (Newcastle Region Library, University of Newcastle), Nowra, Orange, Parkes, Port Macquarie, Tamworth, Taree, Tenterfield, Wagga Wagga, Wollongong (Wollongong City Library, University of Wollongong), Young

1.3 Archives Resources Kit

Each community access point holds our Archives Resources Kit which consists of microfilm copies of our most popular and heavily used colonial records. Included are records to do with:

- convict arrivals
- assisted immigrants
- births, deaths and marriages
- publicans' licences
- electoral rolls
- naturalisation
- returns of the colony ('Blue Books')
- land grants, and
- the wide range of functions of the Colonial Secretary (1788-1825).

A selection of Guides and printed explanatory material is also included.

1.4 Conditions applying to the use of the Archives Resources Kit

Holders and users of the kit are reminded of the following conditions which apply to its use.

The Archives Resources Kit is copyright. It is supplied subject to the provisions of the Copyright Act 1968, as amended in 1980, and also to State Records' usual conditions governing access to, photocopying, and publication of State archives. These conditions are set out on the reels and microfiche of the kit and summarised below.

Photocopying

The photocopying of archives reproduced in the kit is permitted providing that the provisions of the Copyright Act are complied with. However, this does NOT extend to the following records of the Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages:

Registers of Births, Deaths and Marriages, 1787—1856 (48 reels)

Reproduction, by any means, of the above-named records, is not permitted. Certified copies of these entries may be obtained from the New South Wales Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages, GPO Box 30, SYDNEY NSW 2001 <www.lawlink.nsw.gov.au/bdm>

Duplicating of Microforms

No further duplication of microforms supplied with the kit is permitted.

Publication of State archives

The following conditions apply when seeking permission to publish State archives or extracts therefrom:

'That no publication of State archives or extracts therefrom shall be undertaken without the written permission of State Records. Approved publication of State archives must acknowledge State Records, New South Wales as the source of any quotations or extracts.

That, subject to the conditions stated above, and except when the public office which transferred the records itself requires special application, photographic or other copies may be made without further application. Special permission, in writing, must be obtained before any reproduction of photographic copies is made. No photographic copies of State archives are to be sold or given away without the written permission of State Records, New South Wales.'

Applications should be made in writing and addressed to:

The Director
State Records
PO Box 516
KINGSWOOD NSW 2747

The applicant should clearly cite the material to be published and describe the publication.

A correct citation should note series title (eg. Returns of the Colony ('Blue Books'), Register of Appointments to Government Offices), dates, Concise Guide Series Number and State Records reference number (eg. [4/258 p. 138], etc.). An example could be:

NRS 1286 Returns of the Colony ('Blue Books') 1829, [4/258 p. 138]

Facsimile reproductions of material in State Records should bear the notation 'from the original map/plan/photograph etc. in State Records NSW'.

Additional information on citing and publishing State archives is available in Archives in Brief No. 10 Citing Records and Archives in Brief No. 11 Guidelines for Publishing State archives which are available on our Website.

2. GUIDES AND OTHER EXPLANATORY MATERIAL

2.1 Concise Guide

The Concise Guide to the State Archives of New South Wales, the main finding aid to the records held as State archives, is now available on CD-ROM as well as on our Website.

The Concise Guide lists archives which were fully processed for use at the end of July 1991. Information on records processed after that date may be obtained on application to either the Sydney or Western Sydney Records Centres.

State Records holds substantial quantities of records which have been transferred or designated for transfer to regional repositories (records are currently stored in Newcastle, Wollongong, Armidale, Wagga Wagga and Broken Hill). This material chiefly consists of selected Mines, Local Court, Police and Lands records, along with smaller quantities of Public Works, Education and other records in some repositories. Regional records which have actually been transferred to regional repositories are generally not listed in the Concise Guide, and details concerning these records are available on request.

The Guide lists each series in the State Records in 255 separate government agencies. A government agency means a public office which functioned or functions by itself as a separate administrative unit. Usually the agency corresponds to a ministerial department, but sometimes the convenient unit is a branch or section of a department, or a statutory authority responsible to a Minister of the Crown through his or her department. The agencies are arranged in alphabetical order.

Information on using the Concise Guide is given in the introductory section on the CD-ROM. The CD-ROM may be searched by a keyword which may be a topic, subject, place or name.

2.2 Subject Guides and Leaflets

In addition to the Concise Guide to the State Archives of New South Wales, a range of other finding aids have been produced to assist users in locating records likely to be relevant to their research. These include:

Subject Guides

Guides which are included with the Archives Resources Kit

- Government (Colonial) Architect, 1837-c.1970 (1979)
- Surveyor General: Select List of Maps and Plans, 1792-1886 (1980)
- Colonial Secretary: Naturalization and Denization records (Third edition, 1982)
- Clerk of the Peace Part 1: Quarter Sessions Records, 1824-1920 (1982)
- Guide to Shipping and Free Passenger Records (Second edition, 1984)
- Surveyor General: Select list of Maps and Plans, 1792-1886. Supplement (1984)
- Convict Guide Supplementary List: Microfiche Copies of Indents (1985)
- Handbook to the Papers of the New South Wales Colonial Secretary, 1788-1825 (1989)
- A Guide to Records Relating to Aboriginal People (1998)
- A Guide to State Archives Relating to the Teaching of English to Post WWII Migrants (1999)

Government (Colonial) Architect, 1837-c.1970

This guide lists correspondence, designs and architectural plans of public buildings. There are a number of separate alphabetical listings in the guide and care should be taken that the various listings have been consulted for a possible reference.

Colonial Secretary: Naturalization and Denization records

This guide lists Indexes, Registers, Certificates and related records for those persons naturalised in New South Wales 1834-1903.

Clerk of the Peace Part 1: Quarter Sessions Records, 1824-1920

This guide provides information on the office of the Clerk of the Peace and Quarter Sessions. It lists and describes the surviving records of the Court and the Office. Appendices include a list of court papers 1824-37 arranged by place which lists individuals' names.

Guide to Shipping and Free Passenger Records

This guide lists records of arrivals in and departures from New South Wales including Port Phillip (Melbourne) 1839-51 and Moreton Bay (Brisbane) 1848-59. It also contains information on records relating to ships' captains and crew, the registration of vessels and shipwrecks.

Surveyor General: Select List of Maps and Plans, 1792-1886 and Supplement

These two guides list the earliest surveys of New South Wales including towns, villages, squatting districts, counties and parishes, roads, rivers, mountain ranges and explorers' expeditions (listed under "I" for Interior). The guides list the old Surveyor General's map number and the State Records map number which has been assigned to it.

Convict Guide Supplementary List: Microfiche copies of Indents

This guide includes notes on the transportation system, how to use the microfiche copies of the Bound Indents and a detailed listing of the Convict Indents.

Handbook to the Papers of the New South Wales Colonial Secretary, 1788-1825

This handbook provides historical and background information on the Colonial Secretary's office and papers. It provides detailed information on the arrangement and description of the records. It also provides a list of subject headings used in the Index.

A Guide to New South Wales State Archives relating to Aboriginal People.

The guide consists of a listing and description of records held by State Records which relate to Aboriginal people. It includes the records created and used by the Aborigines Protection Board - renamed the Aborigines Welfare Board in 1940 - which was established in 1883 and held its final meeting in 1969. This was the main New South Wales State Government agency which implemented and administered the legislation and policy having an impact on Aboriginal people throughout New South Wales.

There is also a list of material created by other New South Wales Government agencies which contain significant mention of Aboriginal people. It should be borne in mind, however, that this is not an exhaustive list of sources which can be used in tracing Aboriginal family and personal history. References to Aboriginal people are likely to be found throughout the records of various Government agencies held by State Records and may be located by means of the various guides, finding aids and indexes available in both State Records' Reading Rooms. The guide is also available on the State Records' Website.

A Guide to State Archives, Relating to the Teaching of English to Post World War II Migrants.

The guide helps to commemorate cultural diversity in NSW by bringing together State archives that document the provision of education to migrants in the latter half of the 20th century. The records listed in the guide reflect the changing role of government administration in adapting to a new era in immigration.

The guide aims to list and describe those records of the Adult Migrant Education Service which celebrated 50 years of service in 1998. These records include information on pupils, teachers, classes and lessons.

Short Guides

Short Guides are issued from time to time to provide easy reference to a particular series or subject area (these were previously known as Information Leaflets). They take the form of

- Subject guides
- Specialised listings of particular series or groups of records

Included with the kit are a number of Short Guides (listed below).

- 1 Electoral Rolls
- 2 Birth, Death and Marriage Records
- 3 Returns of the Colony - 'Blue Books'
- 4 Attorney General and Justice - Registry of Births, Deaths, and Marriages: Microfilm copies of Register of Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, 1787-1856
- 5 Index to Abstracts of all Licences for Marriage granted to Free Persons, March 1813 - December 1827
- 6 Department of Education: Subject files, 1875-1948
- 7 1901 Census
- 8 Land Grants, 1788-1856

In addition, two Information Leaflets which have been discontinued have been included as they contain much useful information:

- 41 Professions and Occupations: A Select list of Sources
- 43 An Introduction to Sources for Genealogical Research

There are also a number of Information Leaflets which, while not included in the kit, are available for use in State Records' Reading Rooms. These are mainly those which provide detailed listings of particular records and subject bundles, for example:

- Listings of Special bundles or Correspondence files for such agencies as Agriculture, Attorney General and Attorney General and Justice, the Premier's Department, Public Works Department, the Treasury), and
- Specialised listings of particular series or groups of records (1891 Census Collectors' books; Glass negatives and Lantern slides; Returns of hearings in the Sydney Bench of Magistrates for 1788-1820).

If you are visiting one of the Reading Rooms please enquire at the reference desk for these Leaflets if you are interested.

2.3 Archives in Brief

Archives In Brief are designed to provide information, in a concise way, about our facilities and procedures, as well as to give an indication of our holdings on particular topics or groups of records. Archives In Brief, which are produced regularly, are an excellent starting point for any research.

2.4 Indexes

The Indexes which are included in the kit index specific series of records and record the names of individuals which are listed alphabetically. Where there is an index to a series, it should always be consulted first.

- Index to Abstract of all Licences for Marriage Granted to Free Persons, 1813-27
- Index to Assisted Immigrants Arriving Port Phillip, 1839-51
- Index to Assisted Immigrants Arriving Moreton Bay (Brisbane), 1848-59
- Index to Assisted Immigrants Arriving Sydney, 1844-59
- Index to Assisted Immigrants Arriving Sydney, 1860-79
- Index to Assisted Immigrants Arriving Sydney, 1880-96
- Index to the Colonial Secretary's Papers, 1788-1825

These Indexes are available on our Website.

3. MICROFORMS

3.1 The Colonial Secretary's Papers, 1788–1825

The Colonial Secretary's Papers, 1788-1825, are the most comprehensive collection of public records relating to the early years of European settlement in Australia. In order to make them more generally available they were first published in microform as part of the State Government's Departmental Program for the Australian Bicentenary. They comprise 72 reels of 35mm roll microfilm and the 312 microfiche which make up the microform edition of the Papers.

3.1.1 Introduction to the Colonial Secretary's Papers

The correspondence of the Colonial Secretary is one of the most valuable sources of information on all aspects of the history of the Colony and the State of New South Wales. Chiefly responsible for this was the Colonial Secretary's pre-eminence in public life and the fortunate occurrence of the survival of the greater part of his papers. Included among these are earlier papers of the Secretary to the Governor taken over by the first Colonial Secretary, Frederick Goulburn, on his appointment in 1821.

Background

The position of Secretary to the Governor began with the foundation of the Colony and the duties of this officer gradually increased. Governor King described his duties in 1804:

'Secretary – Has the custody of all official papers and records belonging to the colony; transcribes the public despatches; charged with making out all grants, leases and other public Colonial instruments; also care of numerous indents or lists sent with convicts of their terms of conviction and every other official transaction relating to the colony and Government; and is a situation of much responsibility and confidence.' Historical Records of Australia (HRA) 1.4.538

Frederick Goulburn took office as Secretary and Registrar of the Records in 1821. He was the first such officer officially called Colonial Secretary and was appointed by a Commission dated 13 June 1820. He also held the position of Private Secretary to the Governor. Although this represented a change in the method of appointment and title of the office his commission did not detail his duties, which in fact were the same as those of his predecessor. Following a long dispute with Governor Brisbane the Colonial Secretary ceased to act as the Governor's Private Secretary. In May 1824 Major Ovens was officially appointed Brisbane's Private Secretary although he had in fact been acting in this capacity since the middle of 1823. Thus the two offices were separated. Many of the records prior to the establishment of the separate office were retained by the Colonial Secretary and hence appear here. Others were transferred at the end of 1825.

Prior to 1823 all inwards correspondence for the Governor was addressed to the Governor, although filed in the office of the Secretary to the Governor and, after 1821, that of the Colonial Secretary. In 1823 a notice appeared in the Sydney Gazette directing that letters and memorials intended for the Governor were to be addressed to the Colonial Secretary and the following year Goulburn maintained that he was the only channel through which the Governor could give directions to the various members of the civil establishment.

The duties of the various Government offices were revised by Governor Brisbane and notified in a Government and General Order dated 5 January 1825 (HRA 1.12.152). This also ordered that 'The Public Correspondence in the Colony is to be carried on generally through the medium of the Colonial Secretary. The Heads of Departments and Commandants of Stations (except when the subject relates to the Military Branch of the Service) will address their Applications and Reports to that Officer for the information or decision of the Governor'.

Previous to this the Governor must still have received many papers direct as the Memorandum of papers handed over at the end of 1825 shows.

The basis of the dispute between the Governor and the Colonial Secretary had been the lack of an authoritative statement as to their relative positions. This was largely remedied in 1825 when Darling was given additional instructions on this matter:

'... in addition to those functions which under your general Instructions are specially committed to the Colonial Secretary, he is to conduct, under your direction all Official Correspondence in the Colony, and is to act on all occasions as the general medium of Communication, through which your orders are to be signified either to the community at large, or to private persons.' (HRA 1.12.18)

3.1.2 The Papers

The surviving records of the office of the Secretary to the Governor (1788-1821) include letters received and a few drafts of letters sent, and copies of agreements, despatches, out-letters, general orders, instructions, ordinary regulations, proclamations, memoranda, reports and returns. The original arrangement has been obscured by several re-arrangements. Few records survive prior to 1810 but the papers were fairly systematically kept after that time.

Up to 1826 the letters received were probably kept in alphabetical sequence by the author of a letter or petition. No contemporary registration numbers appear on the letters. The surviving lists of memorials and petitions received are all arranged alphabetically and the papers were probably put away in the same order with perhaps some division by type of application and year.

There have been several attempts to organise the early papers. The first appears to have taken place when Darling took office in 1826 - the lists of letters received in 1821 and 1822 are watermarked 1823.

On 1 October 1857 Edward Smith Hall was appointed as an extra clerk in the Colonial Secretary's Office to work on the early official papers. Hall died on 18 September 1860 and would seem to have been engaged on this work in the interim period. It is not clear what he actually did. However he may have been responsible for the registration system on the 1824 letters received.

A major re-arrangement of the early records was undertaken in the Colonial Secretary's Office during 1888-90 for the purpose of facilitating research in connection with the publication of the History of New South Wales from the Records. The correspondence up to 1826, with a few exceptions, was made up into bundles. A Summary of Colonial Records in the Colonial Secretary's Office, 1788-1826, NRS 902 [5/2331] was prepared listing each document or group of documents and showing the date of each, the writer, to whom it was addressed, and a description of its contents. A number was allocated to each bundle and to each item described. The description varies in detail however, as does the item described which may be one sheet of paper described with lengthy comments, or a whole bundle of papers dismissed with the words 'Miscellaneous and unimportant correspondence for the year'. There is an index in the front of this Summary.

In various rearrangements of the records some of the items were removed from the bundles and consequently are located separately. Notes identifying the reference numbers of these items have been filmed where appropriate. See Handbook for further information and for a detailed listing of the Papers available in microform.

The published Index to the Papers should be used by all researchers wishing to locate documents concerning a particular person or subject.

Indexes concerning Colonial Secretary's Correspondence, 1826-1853 have been compiled by Joan Reese, 72 Hobart Street, ST MARYS NSW 2760.

- Colonial Secretary's Correspondence: Index to Convicts and Others

- Colonial Secretary's Correspondence: Index to letters sent re Convicts

Contemporary Indexes and Registers 1826-1900 are available in State Records' Reading Rooms.

3.1.3 Using the Colonial Secretary's Papers and Index

When searching for a particular person, place or subject, first consult the microfiche index to locate the entry.

Example:

BRADY, Patrick. Per 'Henry Porcher', 1825

1825 Dec 9 On list of convicts landed from the 'Henry Porcher' and forwarded to Liverpool for distribution (Reel 6016; [4/3516 p.104])

Go to Reel 6016 and first locate [4/3516]. This will appear on a title page and show that you are viewing the correct volume (as often more than one volume is filmed onto one microfilm). Once you have this, then look for your page number (page 104). Do not look for the page number before establishing that you are in the correct volume on the reel otherwise you may find page 104 in another volume which is on the reel and it will not contain the information you require.

- 3.2.1 Indexes to ships arrived, 1837-1925, NRS 13277 (Reels 2502-2503A) 2 rolls of 35mm microfilm

These indexes record name and type of vessel, and date of its arrival. They relate to vessels arriving in Sydney only.

The indexes are alphabetical by the name of the vessel; within each letter of the alphabet arrangement is chronological by date of arrival. There are a number of different sequences on each reel, as noted in the Item List below.

If the name of the ship is known, this series can be consulted to check the vessel's date of arrival. Therefore, it can be used as an index to other series listed in this section.

- 3.2.2 Assisted (Bounty) immigrants to New South Wales, 1828-42, NRS 5310, 5311, 5314 (Reels 1286-1349) 64 rolls of 35mm microfilm. This includes the following records:

- Persons on early migrant ships, 1828-32, NRS 5310 ([4/4823] on Reel 1286);
- Persons on early migrant ships, May 1832 - January 1833, NRS 5311 ([4/4824] on Reel 1286); and
- Entitlement certificates of persons on bounty ships, 1832-42, NRS 5314 (Reel 1286 part, to Reel 1349).

The *Persons on early migrant ships, 1828-32, records, for each immigrant, name, age, sex, country and calling, and status as a passenger (cabin or steerage). The *Persons on early migrant ships, May 1832 - January 1833, is similar to the earlier volume but also includes a list of mechanics and females who received advances of money from the British Government to pay the cost of their passage to New South Wales.

For each certificate in the series Entitlement certificates of persons on bounty ships, 1832-42, the name of the ship and the ship's agent; and the native place, calling, age, health, religion and name of the immigrant are recorded. Each certificate is endorsed with a character reference and a certificate of baptism.

Index

An index to these records for the years 1828-42, known as the Bounty Index (consisting of 8 rolls of 16mm microfilm) has been prepared by The Genealogical Society of Utah (GSU) and is available from: The Australian & PNG Regional Manager, The Genealogical Society of Utah, PO Box 350, CARLINGFORD NSW 2118 Telephone enquiries (02) 9841 5333.

3.2.3 Assisted immigrants to New South Wales, 1838-96, and Moreton Bay, 1848-59 (Agent's Immigrant Lists), NRS 5316 (Reels 2134-2143) 10 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The information contained in these records varies but usually includes name, age, sex, calling, marital status, native place, and literacy.

Also called the 'Agent's Immigrant Lists', the arrangement is chronological by date of arrival of each ship. Within each ship entries are generally arranged under the following headings: families, widowers, widows, wives and families of persons resident in the Colony, single men, and single women.

Indexes

New South Wales

- 1828-42 The immigrant lists for this period complement those in series 3.2.2 above. Immigrants on these ships would therefore be included in the Bounty Index (mentioned under 3.2.2 on page 18).
- 1844-59 Originally printed three volume set is available on Fiche 2481-2491 and State Records' Website
- 1860-79 Originally printed volume is now available on Fiche 2492-2498 and State Records' Website
- 1880-96 Originally printed volume is now available on Fiche 2499-2504 and State Records' Website

Moreton Bay (Brisbane)

- 1848-59 Originally printed volume is now available on Fiche 2479-2480 and on our Website.

Item List

A full listing of the ships which are covered in these reels can be found in Appendix A, pp. 106-32 of the Guide to shipping and free passenger records.

- 3.2.4 Wage agreements and entitlement certificates of persons on bounty ships, 1844-45, NRS 5315 (Reels 2449-2456) 8 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The agreements record the conditions under which the immigrant was to work for his or her sponsor. The certificates note the name, age, calling, native place, health, religion and education of the immigrant; the names of his or her parents; and the amount of bounty claimed.

This series complements the Agent's Immigrant Lists (series 3.2.3) above) but provides more information about the immigrants

Index

These immigrants are indexed in the printed publication Guide to Assisted Immigrants arriving Sydney and Newcastle, 1844-59, which forms part of the Archives Resources Kit. This index is also available on Fiche 2481-2491 and on our Website.

- 3.2.5 Persons on bounty ships to Sydney, Newcastle and Moreton Bay ('Board's Immigrant Lists'), 1848-91, NRS 5317 (Reels 2458-2498) 41 rolls of 35mm microfilm

Each entry records the name, age, marital status, calling, native place, religion, and education of the immigrant. Also recorded are the names of relations in the colony; names and addresses of parents; and any complaints respecting treatment aboard ship.

The majority of ships travelled from a British port to Sydney. However, there were numerous arrivals from Hamburg in the 1850's, when considerable numbers of immigrants from Germany were recruited to come to New South Wales (which included Moreton Bay until 1859). In addition, the William Prowse (1853) and the Palmyra (1854) arrived from Madras carrying Eurasians; and the Annie H. Smith, N. Boynton, Sierra Nevada, Star of the West and the Ivanhoe arrived from New York in 1877-78.

Also called the 'Board's Immigrant Lists', arrangement is alphabetical by the name of ship within each year. The series generally provides more information about immigrants than the Agent's Immigrant Lists (series 3.2.3 above), which it complements, but it is incomplete.

- 3.2.6 Wives and families of convicts on bounty ships, 1849-55, NRS 5321 (Fiche 837-838) 2 microfiche

Each entry records the name, sex, age, marital status, calling, native place, religion and education of the immigrant as well as his or her relationship to the convict. In addition, information concerning immigrants arriving who were not related to convicts is recorded in the lists for the ships William Jardine, Success, Anglia and Ramillies.

Arrangement is chronological by the date of the ship's arrival.

- 3.2.10 Immigration deposit journals, 1853-1900, NRS 5264 (Reels 2668A-2676) 9 rolls of 35mm microfilm

These journals record moneys deposited in the Colony by persons wishing to sponsor the immigration of a nominated person or group of persons, frequently members of their own family or persons they wished to employ.

The amount of information provided varies over the period and includes: certificate number; deposit number; name of depositor or sponsor; date of deposit; particulars of name, age, calling and address of the sponsored migrant; name and address of referee; amount paid towards cost of passage and outfit; nationality (English, Scotch, Irish, Foreigner) of sponsored migrant; ship and date of arrival; and, if necessary, date of refund of deposit on account of the non-arrival of the nominee.

These volumes are particularly valuable for the period 1860-62 when the Board's Immigrant Lists (series 3.2.5 above) are missing; and after 1870 when they no longer supply the place of origin within the county in Ireland.

Many months would usually pass between the deposit of the money and the arrival of the immigrant and researchers should keep this time lapse in mind when using these records.

Indexes

Indexes to the depositors are located in the front of volumes [4/4577], [4/4583-4588] and [4/4591-4598]. [4/4578] is a separate index covering the period October 1856 to December 1857, for which the register does not appear to have survived, and [4/4590] is a separate index to volume [4/4589].

There are no contemporary indexes for [4/4576] (1853-54) and [4/4579-4582] (December 1857 -December 1861).

A microfiche index to Immigration Deposit Journals, 1853-1900 has been compiled by Pat Stemp and Aileen Trinder (Pastkeys) PO Box 116, ROCKDALE NSW 2216.

- 3.2.11 Assisted immigrants to Port Phillip, 1839-51, NRS 5318 (Reels 2143A-2145) 3 rolls of 35 mm microfilm

The information contained in these records includes name, age, calling, religion, education, native place and bounty paid.

Index

These immigrants are indexed in the printed publication Guide to Assisted Immigrants arriving Port Phillip, 1839-51 which is also available on Fiche 2476-2478. This index is arranged by head of the family; the name of the wife is also given. For children the statement 'and family' is recorded only.

Item List

See Appendix B, pp. 133-36 of the Guide to shipping and free passenger records for a full listing of the ships on these microfilm reels.

These records list the names of passengers, by ship, arriving in New South Wales. Occasionally status or occupation is also given.

The following records are included:

- Reports of vessels arrived, July 1826-December 1853, NRS 1291 (Reels 1263-1280 and 2851); and

- Passengers arriving, 1854-1900, NRS 13278 (Reels 399-560)

The Reports of vessels arrived record the vessel's name, tonnage, number of crew, master, from whence, when sailed, cargo, first class passengers' names, names or number of steerage passengers (refer to immigrant lists), and occasionally particulars such as passenger's trade or profession or native place. Health Officer's Reports are frequently attached to the main report from 1839.

The lists in Passengers arriving record name of ship and master; tonnage; where from; date of arrival; seamen's names, station, age and nationality (from 1854 onwards); and passengers' names, and very occasionally occupation. The information on each passenger may be quite limited, eg. 'Mr & Mrs Smith & infant'.

A microfiche index to Unassisted passengers arriving for the years 1842-54 has been compiled by Pat Stemp and Aileen Trinder (Pastkeys) PO Box 116, ROCKDALE NSW 2216.

3.3 Departures from the Colony of New South Wales

- 3.3.1 Ships' Musters (Passengers departing), 1816-25, NRS 1289 (Reels 560-561) 2 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The volumes list both passengers and the ship's company. For the crew, details of their positions on the ship are given; and for the passengers, details of their status (eg. 'free by birth on Norfolk Island', 'free by certificate No.15/2612').

Arrangement is chronological by date of ship departure. Index available on Society of Australian Genealogists website <http://www.sag.org.au>

3.4.1 Registers of Births, Deaths and Marriages, 1787-1856, NRS 12937 (Reels 5001-5048) 48 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The registers record details of baptisms, burials and marriages. Although referred to as the 'Pre-1856' or 'Old Records', some entries relating to baptisms, burials or marriages up to 1901 are also included.

These registers are arranged primarily by Registry Volume Number, Nos. 1-123. Within this arrangement, the following is a general breakdown:

Vols 1-44	Church of England
Vols 45-72	Baptisms - All other denominations
Vols 73-101	Marriages - All other denominations
Vols 102-120	Burials - All other denominations
Vols 121-123	Supplementary Registers - Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, 1827-1901

In addition, the microfilms also contain some other records which do not fall into this numbering sequence. These are:

[5/4219]	Applications for marriage licences, 1836-44
[5/4221]	Church of England Baptisms and Burials, 1850-53
[5/3841]	Church of England Baptisms and Burials, 1833-37

These volumes have been included in the set of microfilms for the sake of completeness; all entries located in them also appear in other Registry volumes.

A full description and listing of these records is available in Short Guide No. 4 Attorney General and Justice: Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages – Microfilm copies of Registers of Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, 1787-1856.

Indexes

Microfiche copies of the Pioneer series of Indexes to Births, Deaths and Marriages, 1788-1888, Federation series of Indexes to Births, Deaths and Marriages, 1889-1918 and NSW Between the wars series of Indexes to Death and Marriage, 1919-1945 are available from the Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages, GPO Box 30, SYDNEY NSW 2001 <www.lawlink.nsw.gov.au/bdm>

In looking for a particular entry relating to a pre-1856 baptism, burial or marriage which may be found in the registers on these microfilms, the portion of the microfiche Index which relates to the pre-1856 period should first be consulted. This will give a reference to volume and entry number.

The Summary Listing or the Detailed Listing in Short Guide No. 4 should then be consulted to locate the appropriate microfilm reel for the register.

If, in consulting the microfiche indexes for the pre-1856 records, the relevant reference is to a volume number other than Registry Volume Numbers 1 to 123, the researcher should approach the Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages, which holds these records.

Item List

This is a summary Item List provided for quick reference only. As these records are complex and difficult to use it is strongly suggested that the registers be used in conjunction with Short Guide No. 4, which gives much more detailed information about their arrangement.

- 3.4.2 Abstract of all licences for marriage granted to free persons, 17 March 1813-26 December 1827, NRS 1037 (Fiche 836) 1 microfiche

In the early colony, marriages were of two kinds, either by licence or by the publication of banns. As the fees were comparatively high, only the more affluent members of the community married by licence. The licence was granted by the Governor as there was no Bishop of the Church of England in the Colony.

Information given includes: the number and date of the licence; parties' names; and where, when and by whom the marriage was solemnised. In many cases name of parent (father or mother), name of previous spouse (for women only), occupation, and place of residence are also recorded.

The Abstract on this fiche is numbered pages 151 to 222 as it is an extract from the series Registers of important documents, oaths and licences.

Arrangement is numerical by licence number.

Index

See published Short Guide No. 5: Index to Abstract of all Licences for Marriage granted to Free Persons, March 1813 - December 1827, a copy of which is provided with the kit.

- 3.4.3 Reports of inquests, 1796 - April 1824, June 1828, NRS 5607 (Reels 2232-2233) 2 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The volumes contain reports from coroners on inquests held throughout the Colony, including a few held in Van Diemen's Land and one at Port Macquarie. The deaths were mostly caused by drowning, apoplexy or a Visitation of God. There are also occasional murders, thieves killed in the course of a robbery and spearings by Aborigines (mostly in the Bathurst district).

Index

The volumes have been indexed by State Records - entries have been made for the deceased and witnesses but not for the Coroners and members of the Jury. A list of the entries made for each volume is located in the front of each.

- 3.4.4 Registers of Coroners' inquests and Magisterial inquiries, 1834 - June 1942, NRS 343, 344 (Reels 2921-2927, 2224-2225 and 2763-2769) 16 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The most important function of a Coroner was to inquire into unnatural or sudden deaths, and Coroners were authorised to hold inquests in all cases of death if the body should be lying within the Police district or districts in which his jurisdiction applied. In the more remote Police districts of the Colony where no Coroner was situated, magistrates could take depositions and inquire into the circumstances of death but, in such cases, a Justice of the Peace had no authority to empanel a Jury, as had a Coroner.

In addition to this function, Coroners had a common law right to preserve general order, were authorised to hold inquests on bodies of all persons who died in prison and could also hold inquests respecting deaths taking place in asylums, hospitals or public institutions. In the event of the destruction of any property, real or personal, by fire the Coroner had jurisdiction to inquire into the cause and origin of such fire.

The first six volumes [4/6611.1-6615] record the district, before whom held, when and where held, date received, name of deceased, finding and date death certificate required. The later volumes also record age of deceased, locality of birth, locality of death, and cash or property owned at the time of death.

The arrangement is by single number up to 1866, with the exception of [4/6611.1]. From January 1867 an annual single number is substituted.

Indexes

There are a number of indexes to this series, either included at the front of the register or in separate volumes, with entries generally being to the names of the deceased. For those inquests and inquiries which relate to fires and to unidentified or unnamed individuals, entries have been made under a number of general headings such as fire, origin of fire at, human remains, infant, new born child/infant, native (Aboriginal), and unknown.

However, the registers are only partially indexed. Prior to 1899, indexes are located in the front of [4/6611.2] (H - Z only) and [4/6612] only; the remaining available indexes for this period, which are separate volumes, are to be found on the following microfilms:

The 'Convict Indents' provide a great deal of information about individual convicts - more as the transportation period continued. The details given always include name, date and place of trial, and sentence. Later volumes also record age, literacy, religion, marital status, number of male and female children, native place, trade or calling, offence, former convictions, and detailed physical description.

Indexes

The Genealogical Society of Victoria has published an index on microfiche to these records. Enquiries should be addressed to: The Genealogical Society of Victoria, PO Box 4332, MELBOURNE VIC 3000.

Convicts can also be traced through the following indexes which are included in the microfiche set of Convict arrivals:

3.5.2 Musters and other papers relating to convict ships, 1790-1849, NRS 1155 (Reels 24172428) 12 rolls of 35mm microfilm

These papers usually came from England on the transport. The lists of convicts generally show only name, date and place of trial, and sentence. They are sometimes copies of the indentures with the owner of the ship contracting to transport convicts, or a muster taken before embarkation or just before or just after disembarkation. The other papers are miscellaneous - lists of deaths during the voyage, convicts to be employed in the iron'd gangs, warrants to transport military prisoners, lists of free settlers on board, etc. Occasionally there are letters about a convict after arrival.

Additional papers concern convicts from India, Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius, Canada, South Australia, Western Australia etc and occasionally convicts to Van Diemen's Land, Norfolk Island or Port Phillip, as well as New South Wales.

Item List

The documents, unless otherwise stated, are 'Musters' or 'Assignment Lists' of convicts showing name, date and place of trial, and sentence. They relate to ships arriving in New South Wales (NSW) between 1791 and 1849, Van Diemen's Land (VDL) between 1812 and 1824 with some ships to 1828, and Norfolk Island between 1826 and 1840.

3.5.3 Convict assignment registers, 24 December 1821 - 17 January 1825, NRS 12193, 12194 (Fiche 745-748) 4 microfiche

On arrival convicts were usually assigned to settlers, with males generally working as farm labourers or shepherds and females as domestic servants. Some skilled labourers and badly-behaved convicts were assigned to work for the Government.

There are two registers in this set: the Register of artificers and other labourers assigned ([4/4520] on Fiche 746); and the Register of prisoners who were not artificers and who were assigned ([4/4521] on Fiche 747-748).

Artificers include the following skilled occupations: barbers, blacksmiths, brickmakers, carpenters, glaziers, hairdressers, house painters, sawyers, stone masons, shoemakers and tailors.

Both volumes record date of assignment, to whom assigned, residence, prisoner's name, ship, date and reason for return to Government, and other remarks. The volume [4/4520] on Fiche 746 also records occupation.

Index

A typescript index to these volumes has been prepared by State Records and is filmed on Fiche 745. This index records name, ship, date of assignment, location of original, page number, and entry number (if applicable).

3.5.4 Register of Tickets of Leave, 29 July 1824 - 8 March 1827, NRS 12200 (Fiche 752-754) 3 microfiche

A ticket of leave allowed a convict to work for his own benefit and to acquire property on the conditions that he resided within a prescribed area, attended a muster every few months and attended church weekly (if within a reasonable distance).

The register records number of ticket, name, ship and year of arrival, when and where convicted, sentence, native place, calling, year of birth, height, complexion, hair, eyes, date of ticket, district, and general remarks.

Index

A typescript index to this volume has been prepared by State Records and is filmed on Fiche 752. In order to locate an entry in the register, the index should be searched for the convict's name; having located the convict, particular note should be taken of the second number in the Ticket of Leave (TL) No. column, ie. the number after the oblique.

Each butt provides the following information: prisoner's number, name, ship and year of arrival, master of ship, native place, trade or calling, offence, place and date of trial, sentence, year of birth, physical description, the district prisoner allocated to, the Bench which recommended him, and the date of issue of the ticket of leave. There are also notes of change of district, Conditional Pardons, etc. on most of the butts.

Indexes

There is an index in the front of each volume except for [4/4064] (located on Reel 909), where it is in the back, and [4/4212] (on Reel 960) for which no index was made.

An index to Tickets of Leave, 1810-75 has been compiled by Perry McIntyre PO Box 4, SPIT JUNCTION NSW 2088. It is also available on the Society of Australian Genealogists website <http://www.sag.org.au>

3.5.6 Register of Conditional Pardons, 16 December 1791 - 6 December 1825, NRS 1170 (Fiche 820-823) 4 microfiche

A conditional pardon remitted the remainder of a convict's sentence, on the condition that the person did not return to Great Britain. It was usually only given to convicts who had long sentences, such as fourteen years or life.

Varying degrees of information on convicts pardoned are provided, such as number and date of pardon, name, ship and year of arrival, native place, trade and calling, offence, place and date of trial, sentence, year of birth, height, complexion, and colour of hair and eyes. The register is generally more detailed from June 1810 (page 50).

- 3.5.8 Registers of Absolute Pardons, 16 December 1791 - 1 July 1843, NRS 1177 (Reel 800 part) I part roll of 35mm microfilm

An absolute pardon unconditionally remitted the remainder of a convict's sentence. As with conditional pardons, it was usually only given to convicts who had long sentences, such as fourteen years or life.

For the period 1791-1810, this register is only a list of persons receiving absolute pardons (showing number, date of pardon, and name until the commencement of Macquarie's administration, and then from 17 March 1810 to 24 August 1825 providing much fuller details). The first volume also contains manuscript copies of the pardons from 1 December 1830 - 26 February 1842 (on pages 68 to 194). The other volumes contain duplicates of the actual pardons.

This series and series 3.5.9 below are located on the same microfilm.

- 3.5.10 Registers of convicts' applications to marry, 1825-51, NRS 12212 (Fiche 780-802) 23 microfiche

In the early years of the Colony, most marriages followed the publication of banns in a church on three successive Sundays. Convicts were married by banns having first sought official permission.

These registers record the names of the parties applying for permission to marry, their ages, the date of permission or refusal, ship of arrival, sentence, whether free or bond, and the name of clergyman. Arrangement is either by date of permission or refusal, or alphabetical by the male applicant's surname.

The first permission to marry recorded in these registers was granted on 6 January 1826, and the first refusal on 9 June 1826.

3.7 Naturalization Records

Other guides to the records:

- Archives in Brief No. 3 Naturalisation Records

State Records has published the guide Colonial Secretary: Naturalization and Denization records, 1834-1903, which provides more extensive information on these records. Naturalisation records from 1904 onwards are held by the National Archives of Australia.

- 3.7.1 Letters of Denization, 1834-47, NRS 1038 (Reel 128A part) 1 part roll of 35 mm microfilm

Denization was a process by which an alien could acquire some of the rights of a natural born subject. The letters of denization recite the various rights and privilege conferred on the grantee, such as the right to own land, and the restrictions, such as the clause forbidding him to own or to be master of a British ship. They are signed by the Governor and sealed with the Great Seal of the Colony. Attached to the letters of denization are the signed copies of the oaths and declarations sworn.

The letters of denization which have survived have been filmed at the beginning of Reel 128A, which also contains the first volume of the Registers of Certificates of Naturalization, series 3.7.3 below.

Indexes

A list of persons to whom letters of denization were granted is located at the front of series 3.7.2 below, the Naturalization index (Fiche 757).

- 3.7.2 Naturalization index, 1849-1903, NRS 1042 (Fiche 757-767) 11 microfiche

This volume records name, date of certificate, native place, and reference to Register (register number and page number), as well as occasional remarks. In the front of the volume is a list of persons to whom letters of denization were granted between 1834 and 1848 and a copy of a circular relating to naturalization certificates (Fiche 757).

The Index is a valuable aid for tracing the arrival of non-British persons in the Colony. Index available on State Records' Website.

3.7.3 Registers of Certificates of Naturalization, 1849-1903, NRS 1040, 1041 (Reels 128A-141A) 15 rolls of 35mm microfilm

Provision of a general nature for the naturalisation of aliens in New South Wales was first made by Act 11 Vic. No.39, which came into force in 1849. This Act provided for the granting of certificates of naturalisation, which gave the naturalised persons all the rights of a natural born British subject, except the right to be a member of the Executive Council, Legislative Council or Legislative Assembly. These disqualifications were removed in 1858.

These registers contain a complete record of certificates of naturalisation issued, certified as having been entered on record by the Colonial Secretary or Under Secretary. Each certificate states the name, native place, age, occupation, date and ship of arrival in the Colony, present place of residence, and reason for seeking naturalisation.

Volumes 3 and 4 (on Reel 130) form a separate series, List of Aliens to whom Certificates of Naturalization CSG 1041 have been issued, and differ in format from the other volumes. These two volumes do not contain a record of the certificate, but rather give particulars concerning persons to whom certificates of naturalisation were issued, including the annual number of the certificate, age, ship by which the person arrived and year of arrival, place of residence at the time the certificate was granted, and the date of the certificate.

Investigation has shown that the personal details relating to recipients of certificates of naturalisation cannot be totally relied upon; in particular, in many cases, details of the name of the ship and the year of arrival have proved to be erroneous.

The Letters of Denization for the period 1834 to 1847 (series 3.7.1 above) are located at the beginning of the first reel, Reel 128A.

Indexes

These registers are indexed in the Naturalization index (series 3.7.2 above) and State Records' Website. In addition, an index is located at the front of each volume.

as some for Confectioners, Billiard, Night and Packet Licences. Each certificate contains the following information: name of district, date of justices' licensing meeting, name of proposed licence and type of licence issued, situation of Public House and sign, names and residence of sureties for licensee and signatures of justices. The dates recorded in the Item List below are those for the periods for which licences were authorised by the magistrates rather than the dates of the certificates.

The Index to certificates for publican's licences (Reel 5063) contains two separate indexes: an index of publicans, which is arranged strictly alphabetically by surnames within each of six parts, corresponding to the six volumes they index [4/84-89]; and an index of hotel names.

Indexes

For the Butts of publicans' licences alphabetical indexes to names of licensees are located at the beginning of all the volumes except [4/71] (index in [4/70]) and [4/73] (index in [4/72]). These indexes have been filmed with the relevant volumes (Reels 5049-5062 and 1236).

The Index to certificates for publicans' licences (Reel 5063) which covers the period 1853 to 1855 and indexes volumes [4/84-89] of the Certificates for publicans' licences (on Reels 5063-5066) is the only other index available on these microfilms.

3.9.6 Returns of the Colony, ('Blue Books'), 1822-57, NRS 1286 (Fiche 438-613) 176 microfiche

These invaluable volumes record the progress of the Colony from 1822-57, and include amongst a wealth of statistical information, material of genealogical value:

- Annual lists of officers employed by Government, including an alphabetical index, showing name, position, date of appointment, and salary.
- Lists of persons receiving land grants (or who purchased Crown Land), showing name, location and area of holding, and price.

A detailed description of this series as well as a listing of the microfiche is available in Short Guide No. 3 Returns of the Colony 'Blue Books', a copy of which is provided free of charge to each purchaser of the microfiche.

* In producing the Blue Books in the microfiche format, when more than one Blue Book for a particular year is held in State Records, the Blue Books were compared. The microfiche edition in these cases is often a composite from the extant volumes in order to produce as complete a set of returns as possible for each year.

3.9.7 Public Service Lists, 1858-70, NRS 1286 (Fiche 807-819) 13 microfiche

This series is a continuation of the relevant part of the previous series.

From 1858 to 1861 the statistical Returns of the Colony (Blue Books), contained a section listing members of the Executive Council, Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly; officers of the Civil Establishments, by department; an Ecclesiastical Return arranged by church; a return of pensions paid; and a list of foreign consuls. This section has been extracted from the Returns of the Colony and filmed in this series under the title Public Service Lists. There is an index to the officers of the Civil Establishments only at the beginning of each year.

From 1862 to 1870 the Public Service Lists were published separately from the statistical Returns of the Colony, with an alphabetical index to contents and an index to officers of the Civil Establishments included in the front of each annual volume.

For these years lists for the following are generally included:

- Succession of Governors
- Parliaments (from 1863)
- Ministeries
- Executive Council
- Legislative Council
- Legislative Assembly
- Civil Establishments
- Ecclesiastical Establishments
- Education
- Pensions
- Foreign Consuls
- Returning Officers
- Guardians of Minors (from 1864)

For public servants, the office, the officer's name, date of appointment, by whom appointed, annual salary, and date of first appointment under the Colonial Government are recorded.

3.10.2 1828 Census Householders' Returns, NRS 1273 (Reels 2551-2552 and 2506-2507) 4 rolls of 35mm microfilm

The 1828 Census was the first to be held in New South Wales. It was taken by specially appointed collectors, generally responsible to a Commissioner or a Bench of Magistrates, who completed printed forms for each household in the territory allotted to them. A full listing of names given in the 1828 Census has been published.

The individual householder's form records district number, householder's name, residence, names of family and of servants and then for each individual person - age, class, sex, year of arrival, sentence, employment, residence, religion.

On the other side of the form there is a land and stock return which records district where situated, name of farm, name of proprietor or tenant, total number of acres, acres cleared, acres cultivated, and livestock (horses, horned cattle and sheep).

These returns are grouped into districts.
